LEGISLATURE NOW GOVT 64, OPPOS. 21

In Only One of Seats Was the Contest at All Close

MONTREAL, Oct. 22.—Four official Liberal representatives at the Taschereau government in Quebec were elected in by-elections today in Yamasho, Brome and Richmond.

The successful candidates were: C. J. O'Brien, in Brome; S. E. Macdonald, in Richmond; Hector Authier, in Yamasho; and David Lapierre, in Yamasho.

An audit count was created at the last session of the legislature. It is entirely a colonization region, the largest in the province and millions of acres have been opened up for development in the past ten years.

Mr. Lapointe, minister of commerce and fisheries, followed by Mr. Meighen, minister of the interior, in a spirited speech defended the federal government against the charges which were made here by Mr. Meighen. Not only did he refuse the charges but he also revealed the financial position of the federal government.

The election in Richmond county was the only one in which the Liberal candidate was defeated. The Conservative candidate won by a majority of 1,000 votes.

As a result of the voting the position of the Liberal government in the provincial legislature remains the same. The Liberal government has a majority of 14 seats.

Mr. Meighen, minister of the interior, said that the Liberal government had recently launched a campaign of "black propaganda" against the federal government.

Mr. Meighen, minister of the interior, said that the Liberal government had recently launched a campaign of "black propaganda" against the federal government.

The hastily constituted ambuscade which the Right Honourable Arthur Meighen threw up in the province during his recent tour was badly shattered by the withering fire which Hon. Ernest Lapointe and Hon. Charles Stewart trained in his direction upon the opening in First Presbyterian church here Monday night of a speechmaking journey across the prairies.

An immense audience of Edmonton citizens greeted the two federal ministers and listened to both with warm applause and the closest interest. On the same platform where Mr. Meighen only a few weeks ago painted a gloomy picture of Canadian conditions under the present government, the administration leaders today spoke of a bright future for Canada's trading and industry, of decreased taxation, of economy yet progress in national affairs, of returning prosperity, of recognition among the nations of the earth as one of the greatest exporters per capita in the world, and finally a country to which increased population was assured on substantial lines in the years to come.

Both ministers in eloquent terms urged closer unity and understanding between the people of the East and West. Both gave a pledge that the government at Ottawa is deeply concerned with the question of bringing about this closer community of interest, and both freely declared their faith in the western route for the West and their intention to help restore agricultural conditions to the point where first-class revenues are more equitably comparable with the prices of those things which the farmer has to purchase.

Following a brief introduction by the Right Honourable Arthur Meighen, Mr. Lapointe, minister of commerce and fisheries, followed by Mr. Meighen, minister of the interior, in a spirited speech defended the federal government against the charges which were made here by Mr. Meighen. Response to Call For Rhine Independence is Not Unanimous One

No Properly Directed Opposition to the Movement Is Recorded from Berlin or Elsewhere—Durin Is Chosen as Provincial Capital Because It Is Junction of Several Railroads

PARIS, Oct. 22.—The movement initiated in the Rhineland on Sunday for a republic is spreading, but only slowly, according to latest dispatches received here and, generally speaking, among the smaller towns. The news, however, is full of repetitions and often contradictory and fails to give the impression to observers in Paris that the Rhineland has answered the call made to it to do anything like unanimity, although there is no record of any properly directed opposition to the movement from Berlin or elsewhere.

The executive committee of the Free Rhineland party has assumed the leadership of the revolution and installed headquarters at Durin, which is in the French zone. Leo Deckers and Dr. Guldhardt have become commissioners for the Aix-la-Chapelle district and are following directions given to them by the committee.

Mathias, the separatist leader. Mathias has addressed a letter to the inter-allied high commission announcing the constitution of the provisional government, which intends to enter into negotiations with the occupying authorities immediately.

Durin was chosen as the provincial capital because it is the junction of several important railways. The major of Durin explained that he acted in accordance with instructions from Berlin to the Rhineland municipalities ordering them to not to recognize the Rhineland movement but to remain in office.

Joseph Mathias went by automobile to Aix-la-Chapelle this afternoon. He said that the conditions were quite normal. The officials had no objection to the movement, as the republicans pointed out, but the separatists would not allow the separatists to take over the buildings as soon as order was restored.

The cafes and picture houses were closed, but the shops were open. The separatists had no objection to the movement, as the republicans pointed out, but the separatists would not allow the separatists to take over the buildings as soon as order was restored.

POULTRYMEN HOLD FIRST FALL MEETING

Interesting Address Given by T. Shackleton on Feeding for Winter Eggs Production

The first regular meeting of the Edmonton Poultry association was held in the St. Andrew's hall Jasper avenue last Thursday evening. It was a great success and everybody enjoyed the good program.

Mr. T. Shackleton spoke on "Feeding for winter production," particularly mentioning the following facts: Be sure to have your pullets hatched out not later than the second week in May for the heavy breeds such as Barred Rocks, Orpingtons, Rhode Island Reds, etc., and for the Mediterranean breeds such as Leghorns, Anconas, etc. they may be hatched out as late as the first week in June. Pullets that come in lay the first week in November will go right through to the next fall therefore they are the most profitable to keep, for they will give you the goods when eggs are scarce.

The judging class was well patronized, bringing out some 25 birds or more by the members and visitors. This was very interesting and educational. The awards were as follows:

Barred Rocks, pullets—1 and 2, T. W. Hild; 3, C. C. Hild; 4, C. C. Hild; 5, T. W. Hild.
